25 million players and growing...

PADEL IS GROWING RAPIDLY WORLDWIDE WITH AN ESTIMATED 25 MILLION PLAYERS ACROSS 90 COUNTRIES.

Celebrities and sports stars including David Beckham and Andy Murray are big fans and in January 2024 former World No.1 men's tennis player, Pat Rafter, was announced as the founding ambassador for Padel Australia.

Padel combines the skills and rules of tennis, squash and badminton into one energetic game. It is mostly played as doubles on a smaller version of a tennis court (20m x 10m) which is enclosed with glass and/or mesh walls. The walls (similar to squash) can be utilised to play and hit creative angled shots, making it incredibly dynamic and thrilling to watch and play.
